The display on the base station does not work after pairing the M995 handset with Fritz box/router.

To have this feature functioning properly, the M995 handset has to be paired with the original M995 base station that comes in the same package. By pairing the M995 handset with other base station (i.e. Fritz box/routers), the connection between the M995 handset and M995 base station is lost and the base station becomes a charger only without the base display feature.

The display on the base station does not work after two M995 handsets are paired with the same M995 base station.

The base display feature on each individual M995 base station is linked with its unique paired M995 handset. By manually pairing two M995 handsets with the same M995 base station, there is no more connection between one of the M995 base stations to any of the M995 handset. To have this feature functioning properly, pair one M995 handset with one M995 base station only.

Note

- If the above solutions do not help, disconnect the power supply from both the handset and base station. Try again after 1 minute.
