Why do you need an Automatic Voltage Regulator (AVR)?

Erratic power supply can be a major inconvenience in your home and office. Fluctuations in power may cause lights to flicker and appliances to turn off unexpectedly.

Uncorrected voltage fluctuations degrade the life of your devices, potentially causing premature equipment failure.

The AVR is designed to adjust voltages to levels suitable to your devices and provide surge protection against electrical surges, spikes and lightning.

Where to use an Automatic Voltage Regulator?

At Home

Don't let unstable power conditions interrupt your comfort at home. Protect your TV, entertainment system, refrigerator and other home devices with the AVR from APC.

At the Office

Stay in your flow without the harsh impact of power instability on your office electronics.
